PASTORAL THOUGHTS FROM EPHESIANS 4

...I encourage you to live as people worthy of the call you received from God. Conduct yourselves with all humility, gentleness, and patience. Accept each other with love, and make an effort to preserve the unity of the Spirit with the peace that ties you together. You are one body and one spirit, just as God also called you in one hope. There is one Lord, one faith, one baptism, and one God and Father of all, who is over all, through all, and in all.

God has given his grace to each one of us measured out by the gift that is given by Christ. That's why scripture says, When he climbed up to the heights, he captured prisoners, and he gave gifts to people.

What does the phrase "he climbed up" mean if it doesn't mean that he had first gone down into the lower regions, the earth? The one who went down is the same one who climbed up above all the heavens so that he might fill everything.

Social distancing. Flattening the curve. Jargon we have learned in this time of pandemic. Long after we recover, surely broken and bruised from the forced change of lifestyle, but recovered nonetheless, we will still have these phrases and more to keep us connected to this journey in 2020. The wilderness of Lent. We never expected this. And that is the point of the faith we share, the call to which we are called. To respond to the wilderness places as people of faith with humility, gentleness and patience. Remembering that Jesus went into hell to rise up, to ascend victorious. This bit of hell we are going through is mostly no fun. Yet, it is the very place where our faith can guide us to check in with others, to demonstrate care, to vision a more just playing field for everybody on the other side of this pandemic, to be encouraged, to be charitable, to commit to something significant on the other side of this wilderness.

Watch for Chapel Hill folks offering messages of hope. Casting digital teaching, ideas, anecdotes of truth, pictures of heaven ripped from the clutches of hell. Christ gifts us to each other right now to be encouragers who tell truths that might be tough, while pointing to hope that sustains. Right now, let's be there for each other...lets be sustainers!

IN RESPONSE TO THE COVID-19 VIRUS...

Chapel Hill leaders and staff are taking measures to prevent the spread of COVID-19, or Coronavirus.

For the next few weeks:

- All Sunday School classes, small groups, service groups, and Core Team meetings will be cancelled.
- One Sunday worship service will be live-streamed via Chapel Hill's Facebook page at 10 a.m. each week.
- All outside groups using the Chapel Hill building have been encouraged to suspend their meetings temporarily. If they choose to continue to meet here, they will be required to follow CDC guidelines in wiping down and disinfecting any surfaces, doorknobs, etc. before leaving the building.

This plan will be re-evaluated in the coming days and weeks to determine best practices for Holy Week and beyond. We acknowledge that this a rapidly changing situation and that many folks will have questions. We ask for your patience and prayer at this time as Pastor Barry and Chapel Hill leadership work together for the well-being of this faith community. Please direct any questions to office@pchum.org or call (269) 327-6643 during office hours, Monday – Thursday 9 a.m. – 2 p.m.

PASTORAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Staff-Parish Relations Committee and I are excited to announce that Bishop David Bard has appointed Jess Davenport to Chapel Hill as Associate Pastor.

In this time of uncertainty in both denomination and culture, Chapel Hill is seeking to respond with faith to the changes in pastoral leadership here. Jess will begin this half-time ministry with us the second week of July. This appointment represents a creative expression of ministry cooperation, as Jess is currently Director and Campus Pastor of the Wesley Foundation of Kalamazoo. With her appointment to Chapel Hill, Jess will be reducing her responsibilities at Wesley while new staff rounds out leadership in ministry there.

While the full job description is still being worked on, Jess and I will be making use of her experiences on staff in ministry at Capitol Hill United Methodist Church in Washington D.C. and in campus ministry to deepen and actualize our commitment to growing diversity of all kinds at Chapel Hill. We will be full partners in the work of ministry in the parish, with a particular eye toward ways Chapel Hill and Wesley can work together in the ministries to which we are called. Jess has been before the Board of Ordained Ministry of the Michigan Conference of The United Methodist Church and is being recommended for Commissioning as an Elder, with Provisional Membership in the conference. Jess lives in the Winchell neighborhood of Kalamazoo with her husband, Torey, and son, Tommy.

Blessings,
